

The New Woman

Posted on November 28, 2012 by Bella

So plenty of us have had to deal with the "the other woman" – you know, the person with whom our ex-husbands and ex-boyfriends cheated on us. As if finding out you've been cheated on isn't heartbreaking enough, actually seeing this person makes the misery even worse. You compare your looks and personality with hers, angrily asking, "What does he see in her?" and "What does she have that I don't?" then later shed tears that somehow you failed, didn't measure up to the task of keeping his interest. Never mind the fact that he's a cad with no sense of fidelity; you think that somehow you are to blame for his wandering. (more...)

Posted in: LighterSide Column | | With 0 comments

---